Dear ThINKers,

I'm going to try it again!

...this First Day (Sunday, August 19).

We all had a great time on Red Letter Edition LIVE! "After Show" recently - so, I'll open the microphone again. There is a lot of news to discuss (and I like to test my condition)..so tune in ... and join in!

Again, it will be an informal call-in/talk show.

Here's the way to make this a great show: Call other ThINKers and interested persons and invite them. We will talk more of Tabernacle plans and future ministries of TRI.

What great time we all had last time! Again, I'll take your questions and comments until the clock or my stamina ceases to allow it.

WHEN?: TRI Radio THIS SUNDAY (after the regular show). It all begins at 9:00 AM (Mountain Time)

We are broadcasting on Blog Talk Radio, too.(See left Panel)

The RLE Listen line will allow you to hear, even on your phone. That number is the same as the call-in number: (323) 443-7210.

Join us for this event....again.

Called the "fastest hour in radio", Red Letter Edition - WEEKDAYS! makes short work of understanding the Bible. You'll be constantly challenged to verify your beliefs in a way that will ultimately result in a living and lasting relationship with the Lord Jesus Christ.

So how's
Don doing?

Don has suffered a few set-backs. No doubt, we must maintain the expectations of a rollercoaster ride in order to avoid the emotional ups and downs of his unpredictable health ranging from total inability to "OK, I feel great, let's get on with it!" At first he hoped for "...till Tabernacles" to release the grip of stroke; but, realistically, it looks like more recovery time will be necessary.

Through Don's illness, we have so much appreciated your expressions of concern; but, as time passes, we are also aware that you too have problems and trials in your lives and we all need "HEARTy Counsel" or the ministry of Think Red Ink from time to time. Please continue to, "Remember your source!" No doubt, Don's illness has forcibly put this axiom into incontestable implementation and many who felt that TRI does not stand as a mediator (nor Don as a teacher) in reality of have felt some helplessness as personally, he has become less and less available. If you are among those who have overcome this dependence, we rejoice! ("All things work together for good...")

Your letters are both a great encouragement to us and a source of anxiety. Don's appreciation is for obvious reasons; his angst is due to the near impossible task of writing you back and expressing his gratitude. So many of you have been so gracious not to expect it, but it is still too much to ask of anyone. Don wants you to know that no letter is left unread by him and, all are appreciated.

We regret that we will not be able to host a Feast of Tabernacles gathering this year; but, are hoping to meet locally on that Last Great Day in the Albuquerque area (details to follow). As long as the Father allows it and you desire it, the ministry of TRI will continue in "Re-WIND Mode"; and, until Don is able to function "LIVE" again (and with a new book and television production in the ready!) you can look for TRI TV and Radio still broadcasting 24/7 as well as books and media available for the asking. In addition and as possible, Don hopes to visit with you on the phone and attend some of your gatherings (just make him aware of them).

Pam is home from several weeks of caring for Don's mother through chemotherapy and recovery from surgery. We are happy to report returning health for Mom and a new outlook on life. She has been able to spend a few hours at her (post-retirement) job at the local library already and is enjoying some returning strength in her body.

Mom, Don, Pam, and the staff of TRI thank you for your concern, support, and prayer during these difficult months. Please remember us to our Father as we all do the same on behalf of you.

1 John 2:27, "But the anointing which ye have received of him lives in you, and ye need not that any man teach you: but as the same anointing (of Spirit you received) teaches you of all things ...and even as it hath taught you, ye shall live in him."

Fondly and Friendly,

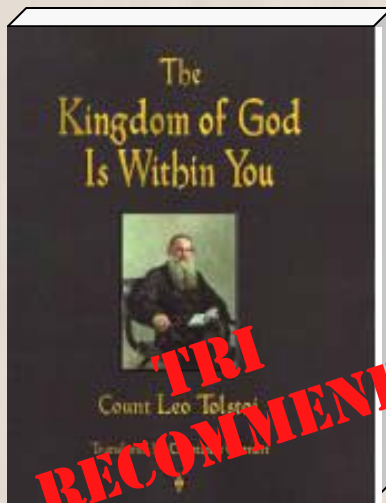

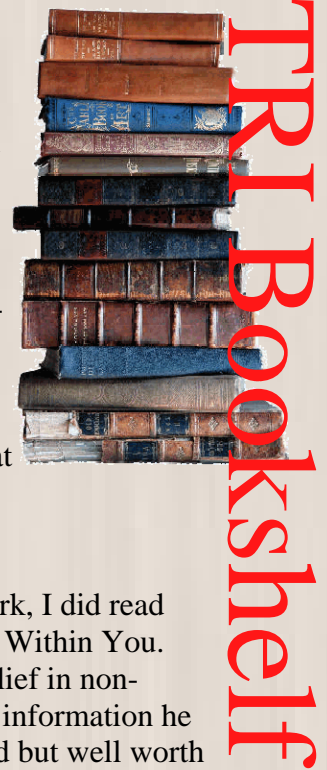

Don & Pam

The Kingdom of God Leo Tolstoy

When you think about the author Leo Tolstoy, you probably think of his more famous works such as Anna Karenina and War and Peace. But did you know that Tolstoy also wrote many books about his own faith in Jesus Christ? In 1884 he wrote What I Believe, which was later suppressed by the Russian censorship, and it contained his personal convictions that believers should read and follow the words of Christ and NOT the Church's doctrine, which he calls Christianity. Tolstoy mainly addresses the subject of non-resistance to evil by force, which is to say, that Messiah teaches us to not repay evil for evil, but to turn the other cheek. Tolstoy took this concept of Jesus' teaching to mean that no believer should ever use weapons on another human being, or serve in the military as service to one's country.

Although I did not get to read this earlier work, I did read Tolstoy's subsequent book, The Kingdom of God is Within You. This particular set of writings expounds upon his belief in non-resistance to evil by force from further research and information he personally received on this matter. Not a quick read but well worth the endeavor, this book will demand all of your attention to ponder the implications of what our Messiah expects of us. In one of my favorite rants, Tolstoy admonishes the priests, soldiers, and workers concerning how the "brethren" of God should treat one other.

"... We are all brothers, but I take a stipend for preaching a false Christian religion, which I do not myself believe it, and which only serves to hinder men from understanding true Christianity. I take a stipend as a priest or a bishop for deceiving men in the matter of the greatest importance to them. We are all brothers, but I will not give the poor the benefit of my educational, medical, or literary labors except for money. We are all brothers, yet I take a salary for being ready to commit murder, for teaching men to murder, or making firearms, gunpowder, or fortifications. The whole life of the upper classes is a constant inconsistency. The more delicate a man's conscience is, the more painful this contradiction is to him." (pg.70)

As I concluded reading the book, I couldn't help but feel an odd kinship with this brilliant man from Russia who sees both the ridiculousness of mainstream Christianity in his day and the truth of DOING what our Messiah commanded us to do. I think that this bond comes from the knowing that if Leo Tolstoy lived today, he would no doubt be a ThINKer!

TABERNACLES

What's a ThINKer to do?

Hiltona

I'm seeking feedback from ThINKers about what/if we want to gather this year during Tabernacles.

I didn't have that much problem giving up Christmas and Easter as Father gave me something much better. Problem now is how are we to gather with like-minded believers. AKA Red Ink Thinkers!!

I can celebrate alone, at home, but I have come to relish time in the wilderness during the Feast.

I have been doing a little checking and find there are various planned gatherings I can attend but frankly, 'Jewwannabes' aren't my idea of celebrating Tabernacles or preparing for our time in the wilderness.

That being said, what are some of you thoughts/plans for this year?

I am willing to check around the Santa Fe area for a campsite. Holy Ghost north of Pecos is beautiful and has some limited facilities.

We could see if we could utilize the campground we've used the last couple years. We could ask for a discounted rate by not using the kitchen facility or the gathering building we have used in the past. We'd have to figure out a way of covering expenses, but I know it is doable.

How about a Tabernacle in the Wilderness theme for this year?

I'm up for camping without electricity, cooking over campfires, using a stream for bath rinses and enjoying a week in the wilderness with Scripture and ThINKers! I want to get out of the city away from Babylon as much as possible. I want to see the stars and moon without city lights dimming their brilliance.

Let me hear from you with some suggestions or alternative plans if any of you have any place we could use.

Blessings everyone!
